From the National Enquirer PRAISE AND PRAYER. Praise! for slumbers of the night, For the wakening morning's light; For the board with plenty spread, Gladness on the spirit shed, Healthful pulse and cloudless eve, Opening on the smiling sky.

Praise! for loving hearts, that still With life's bounding pulses thrill: Praise, that still our own may know Earthly joy and earthly woe; Praise, for every varied good, Bounteous round our pathway strewed!

Prayer! for grateful hearts to raise Incense meet of prayer and praise! Prayer, for spirits calm and meck, Wisdom life's hest joys to seek; Strength midst devious paths to tread-That through which the Savior led.

Prayer for those who, day by day, Weep their bitter lives away. Prayer for those who bind the chain Rudely on the throbbing vein. That repentance deep may win Pardon for the fearful sin!
